Acknowledgements

I would like to record my thanks to the following:

To Rev. Dr. Stephen Tong, the founder of IRES, IREC, whose understanding of Reformed theology was a constant challenge and inspiration. To Rev. Lay Hendra Wijaya, who advised me on forming my initial ideas for the proposal. To Rev. Dr. Audy Santoso, my supervisor, who has guided me patiently and pushed me for quality writing. To Rev. Dr. Billy Kristanto for his advice for contributive writing, his works especially Human Being Being Human inspired me to write my thesis appreciatively. To Rev. Jadi S. Lima, who advised me to be objective and critical in my writing. To Rev. Jimmy Pardede, who pointed out critically the essential sub-topics to be included in my thesis. To Dr. John. V. Fesko, for his helpful replies to my questions.

To my friends at PRII Andrew, Vic. Roy Chan, Dephany Lau, Peter Hung, and Henny Yose for providing me an opportunity to serve with them during my stay in Hong Kong. To my friends at PRII Hong Kong, Rev. Daniel Santoso, Vic. Claudia Satyaloka, Budianto Huang, Eveline Nathalia, Yuliana Sutjiadi-Sia, Kharis Daniel Setiasabda, and Valencia Theodora Tamin for their support and prayers. To my friend, James Kwok serving at IREC HK, for his timely recommendation of Dr. Fesko's newly published work, Adam and the Covenant of Works. To Rev. Lam Sook Wai and Rev. Philip Chang, the ordained ministers of Grace Church, for upholding me in prayers.

To my wife, Wen FengPing, for her helpful suggestions and encouragement. To my in-laws and family, Chen LianXiu, Wen ChangXing, Chen LianFang, and Wen Huajie, for their support during my stay in Xiamen.

Lastly, to my father, James Lye, my mother, Jocelyn Teoh, and my brothers, Jimmy Lye and Vincent Lye, for their support, prayers and encouragement throughout my life journey in this thesis writing.
